MATSCH Extended Biography

Meet Matt Schipsi, from the Abbey Road Institute to a rising talent within the thriving indie music scene. Matt offers perfect balances of intimacy and romance through his rogue vocals which can be compared only to the late Ian Curtis' famously dark undertones. Matt has proven himself through demonstrations and continuous self-improvement that he is able to deliver sounds of excellence capable of displaying emotion and genuine dark intimacy which is his main unique selling point. During his short yet well founded career so far he has taken great pride in utilizing the influences of Joy Division, Orchestral Maneuvers in the Dark and Peter Gabriel, these influences shine through in his performances and allow him to consistently create songs with a fine balance of emotion, romance and satisfaction. The ability to create music which is refreshing and of significant importance is something which Matt Schipsi prides himself on, it's the cornerstone of his talent and allows him to project on a huge scale, the fact that he is able to display 80's dark indie tones whilst still maintaining his originality makes him an artist which is able to appeal to both the young as well as the older generation's which are looking for that gap in the modern music industry. Overall, Matt Schipsi is a consistent composer who's ability speaks for itself. The chilling undertones, dark, deep vocals and intimate lyrics are all symbolic of his personality and character as an artist which is both refreshing as well as more-ish.
